THE SENIOR HISTORY

It was a bright clear morning in September of '44 when twenty-five little green Freshmen came trudging up the hill that led to good old Washburn High. Among these vets of the lower eight who had enough courage to try for four more years of toil were: Lowell Anderson, Lorraine Carlson, Wesley Chesworth, Kenneth Doepke, Lyle Ekstrom, Alvin Goehring, Mabel Hanson, Betty Lechner, Arthur Leidholm, Roy Leidholm, Bernice Massey, Walter Mittlieder, Mildred Persinger, Marguerite Peterson, Lyle Reimers, David Robinson, Blanche Schlafman, Harry Scholl, Ileen Schuler, Dorothy Sheldon, Marvin Slagg, Melvin Strecker, Lucille Wagner, Richard Tewksbury, and Vernon Carlson.

During the year, we lost Kenneth, Alvin, Walter, and Lyle E. but we also gained a new member, Grace Hailey, who transferred from Underwood the last six weeks.

When school reopened the next fall, Bernice had gone to live in Winlock, Washington, and resumed her schooling there. Roy Leidholm had decided to help at home on the farm. Arthur Leidholm quit shortly after school started and Lowell Anderson had moved to another town. Grace Hailey also quit after finishing her freshman year. But those who were left found that school was not such a bad place and that assembly programs were fun, or were they?

The rest of the year passed and we found ourselves upper class men. But again there was one familiar face missing from our happy group, Mildred Persinger had moved to Mobridge during the summer. We also gained a new classmate, Mary Bob Curenton, from Ozark, Alabama.

Ah!!! But now came the time that we had all been waiting for since that third week of our Junior year. The time when we put the Freshies through the paces. But I will say we weren't too rough on them because we could remember when we were in the same position.

Melvin Strecker left us during the first part of the year because of illness.

Soon we were whirling in the madness of preparing for our Junior Class play "Miss Jimmy". It was a comedy with the main scenes in the dorm of a girl's school, Breir Mt. College. Members of the cast were: Vernon Carlson, Mabel Hanson, Ileen Schuler, Richard Tewksbury, Marguerite Peterson, Dorothy Sheldon, Lucille Wagner, David Robinson, and Blanche Schlafman. The profits from the play went into the production of the banquet and prom. The gym had been divided into two sections and the dance floor was the main tent of the make believe circus we had set up. The clowns that were set all around created the atmosphere and gaiety of a real circus.

We pride ourselves in being a "perfect class" but no doubt the class of '47 will long remember their class night and the "feinds" of '48 with their paint brushes.

And now we are Seniors trudging the same old hill we did four years ago but with a new air of dignity and apprehension. Harry Scholl quit at the beginning of the year and to our midst came David Cunningham, a former student of Marion High.

With the beginning of this new year, we also found that we would have new responsibilities. One of the first things that we found we had to do was the reviving of the Cardinal, our school paper. During the time we had charge of it we found time to go to Bismarch to visit the Tribune office. At the beginning of the second semester we turned the paper over to the Juniors and started our work on the annual. Due to the fact that the material for this book had to be sent in to the publishing company the last part of February not all of our senior activities could be published.

We did decide that our Skip Day destination is to be the Black Hills and that the name of our class play is to be "Professor, How Could You?"

Class averages were added up and it was found that Dorothy Sheldon is Valedictorian and Lucille Wagner is Salutatorian. The three honor students are Richard Tewksbury, David Robinson, and Lorraine Carlson.

SENIOR CLASS WILL

We, the Class of Nineteen Hundred Forty-eight residing at the Washburn High School, City of Washburn, in the County of McLean, and the State of North Dakota, in the United States of America, being of sound mind and memory and considering the uncertainty of this frail and transitory life, do, therefore, make, ordain, publish and declare this to be our last will and testament; that is to say that all of our lawful debts are paid and discharged, we bequeath:

ITEM I:

To our parents we will our love and appreciation for their continual efforts which have enabled us to complete our high school work.

ITEM II:

To the faculty of Washburn High School, we hereby give, free from all inheritance, luxury, or income tax, our entire store of knowledge. From them it came and to them it should be returned, that others may be benefited by it as we have been.

ITEM III:

To the Junior Class we give, reluctantly but of necessity, our mantle of dignity. We realize that the class can never fill it, but since it is expected of the, our advice is, "Grin and wear it."

To the Sophomores we bequeath our ability to have the longest list on the honor roll.

To the Freshmen we leave any overlooked cuds of chewing gum we may have left on the underside of desks, assembly seats, or any likely or unlikely places.

ITEM IV:

To Rags Ekstrom we leave the quiet and clean assembly hall after we have passed away.

ITEM V:

To Donna Holtan, Ileen Schuler leaves her much used "gift of gab."

To Donald Schlafman, Dorothy Sheldon wills her "scholarly look"--(due to her glasses that is!)

David Robinson affectionately bestows upon Dean Hagen his reputation as a well known Democrat and Ford Dealer.

Vernon Carlson appropriately leaves Wilbur Allen his much used "Pool Que number 15."

To Bob Carvell, Lucille Wagner wills her "Wasted Afternoons" in the library. May he make better use of them.

Arnold Keck receives from Lyle Reimers his "speed" on the way to classes. Here's hoping you make it on time, Arnold!

Mary Bob Curenton willingly bestows upon the entire Junior Class "Cotton's" address.

Betty Lechner bequeaths to Marlene Geigle her "shy manner".

To Melvin Strecker, Richard Tewksbury wills the art of finding new ways to get out of classes.

Lorraine Carlson thoughtfully leaves her oversized class ring to Joyce Nelson. She hopes Joyce will keep it well polished.

Mabel Hanson gives her optimistic views on life to Donna Reimers.

To Gust Granstrom, Wesley Chesworth gives his "mouse-like" tread in the assembly hall.

Marvin Slagg regretfully wills his slogan "Never say die when it comes to women" to Herbie Leupp.

Blanche Schlafman gives to Ardis Tewksbury the overpowering way in which she "bounces" Butch Kowarsh out of the library.

To Delano Huston, David Cunningham leaves his "way with women".

Marguerite Peterson gives to Marlene Carlson the bottle of peroxide she inherited last year.

In witness we, the Class of 1948, the testor; have set our hand and seal on this the 28th day of May in the year of 1948.

SENIOR CLASS PROPHECY

With a lot of spare time on our hands and a yen for the air we take off in our 1958 Atomic Space Ship to look in on our old friends, the Seniors of '48.

Flying up north we find David Cunningham, our Civil Engineer, trying to show his engineering ability by reconstructing the Garrison Dam. We remember him telling his high school chums about what his married life was going to be like. But so far we see he has no wife. He's leaving for the South Seas in a week or two to see what he can pick up down there.

Heading farther north we find good ol' Wesley Chesworth, a bachelor truck gardener in Alaska during the summer months. The winter months remind him of the old class sleigh riding parties. More power to you, Wes!!

Heading south again we zoom past another space ship and who should be the pilot?? None other than Lorraine Carlson. As we balance our ship in mid-air she tells us she is very happy being a part time housewife for that Turtle Lake farmer.

Farther south we find Marguerite Peterson established in a mansion. We ask the butler where we could find her and he tells us she spends most of her time on the saddle riding her many acres of wheat fields. She tells us her husband has gone in for Vaudeville acting.

Turning west and clipping along at the leisurely rate of 6900 miles per we stop off at Hollywood. Who is this we see behind those bone-rimmed glasses??? After taking out our binoculars we recognize Dorothy Sheldon, the ever-faithful secretary of her movie idol, "Butch" Jenkins. She says he hasn't noticed her as yet but she's not going to give up hoping, although she isn't exactly a spring chicken anymore.

From California we turn southeast. It was getting about lunch time and we were hungry so we decide to stop at Joe's, a near-by hamburger stand, located at Orange Beach, Alabama, where we find Mary Bobell Curenton slinging hash. Working diligently for her husband, the proprietor, she says she regrets ever having left good old North Dakota.

After lunch we felt like sunning on a Florida beach so we climb into our space ship and head for Palm Beach. Who do we find here but Ileen Schuler, a Power model, modeling latest fashions in the night clubs there. She indignantly informs us that she will be forced to quit if the bathing suits start getting that French look.

Heading northeast we find ourselves in Gay Paree. With a thirst for the new French fashions we stop at Maybelle's Salonne where Mademoiselle Hanson, a famous dress designer, shows her talents in the field of art. She has just created that "new look" in hoisery and tells us that the embroidered butterfly designs on the nylons are very difficult to achieve.

Turning south we hit the clouds again as we head for Africa. Flying rather low we seem to have taken off the roof of one of the native's huts. Landing to see what damage we had done we find missionary Richard Tewksbury playing his drums. He tells us that in his spare time he puts rings in the natives noses. After apologizing for taking the roof off of his hut we board our ship. In the air we hear the strains of "Civilization" coming up to us. Really Richard---your voice is cracking.

Turning westward we find ourselves in Michigan where good old David Robinson is manager of a Chrysler-Plymouth Corporation. He remarked that the Ford business just didn't pay anymore.

Dropping off at Fergus Falls to see that world-famous power plant we find Blanche Schlafman and her husband, who had just received his transfer to Niagra Falls. She says this transfer will help her fulfill her life-time ambition to be the first woman to go over the Falls in a barrel.

We now decide to turn homeward and find ourselves in the suburbs of the great metropolis of----wait a minute, you guessed it----Falkirk. Here we find Lucille Wagner still faithfully writing those letters to Paul. She tells us that he has only one year left at Haryard, but after that----time will tell!!'

Turning south to Washburn we feel in need of a coke and enter the old William's Drug, now the property of V. F. Carlson. We find the owner faithfully mixing paragoric and cocaine behind the pharmacist counter. Questioning him we find he fulfils his ambition of being in the Navy by cruising around Wildwood Lake in his 70 foot stream-lined yacht.

Noticing all the new buildings in Washburn, we find Marvin Slagg responsible for a lot of the beautiful architecture. He says architecture is really a snap but those bathroom fixtures!!

We hear the cry "Chesterfields, Chesterfields, Here you are, sir" and decide to investigate that familiar voice. We find Betty Lechner in Lyle Reimers' "Fire Hall Casino." She remarked that the smoke really got in her eyes. Lyle tells that only straight whist is played.

With many regrets we anchor our space ship wondering what the future holds for the Class of '48. Wishing you the best of luck, we say, "It was nice knowing you, kids. Goodbye, Good-luck, and may all your troubles be little ones!!"

Washburn's Cards started football training soon after the opening of school with fourteen boys out. Of these, nine were Freshmen, three Sophomores, one Junior, and two Seniors and but three were returning lettermen.

Because of this lack of experience and weight, Washburn took some hard knocks and when the season was over, we had six straight losses.

Another important reason for the Cards many setbacks was the lack of a regular coach for the early training period and the first three games. However, Fritz Jefferis, a '47 graduate, helped out when he could and his help was greatly appreciated. Coach Lasham finished up the season as coach.

A complete list of games played and the scores is as follows:

	We	They		We	They
Underwood	0	50	Garrison	0	21
Wilton	0	45	Turtle Lake	28	40
Underwood	6	39	Turtle Lake	29	36

BASKETBALL

The Washburn basketball team opened their season with five lettermen returning but of these none has been on the regular starting five the previous year. To finish out the first ten, Coach Lasham picked boys from the Sophomore and Freshmen classes and one eighth grader.

So with lack of experience an important factor, the Cards nevertheless opened their season with a 22-20 victory over Underwood. This was a surprising upset to many people.

After that the Cards ran hot and cold, depending upon whom they played. They played their best ball against their strongest opposition and their poorest ball against their weaker opponents, beating them by only a few points.

In the County Tournament held at Garrison, Washburn emerged Consolation Champion after absorbing a 27-25 defeat at the hands of Wilton and then whipping Coleharbor 42-27 and Butte 27-16. Wilbur Allen was chosen for the All-Tournament Team.

In the District Tournament held at Washburn, things were exactly opposite with the Cardinals winning their first game but dropping the next two. In the first game they beat Hazen 30-24 but were defeated by Elbowoods in the semi-finals and then by Turtle Lake 37-44 which dropped them into fourth place.

The Cards ended the season with 13 victories and 11 defeats.

ANNUAL

The Annual this year was put out entirely by the Senior Class with various editors elected by the Seniors under their Journalism advisor, Mrs. Harvey Lauer.

W. H. S. CARDINAL

Reviving the "Cardinal" was not an easy task this year. The paper had been inactive for seven years. The Senior Class published the paper the first semester, Juniors taking over the second semester. All work was supervised by Mrs. Lauer who taught a shortened Journalism course along with the English of both classes to make writing for the paper easier.
